

RIGHT FROM THE BEGINNING

Sage Computer is not like many other computer companies. We don't just sell you hardware and then hope all things turn out well.

We are involved with you all the way from the beginning. A computer that designs and builds advanced manufacturing environments performs far better than the other computer brands.

Other users are just beginning to rely on an environment that Computer has leading the way in providing the tools for designing and building a factory. While other computer systems are just starting to provide CAD capabilities, Sage's CAD is released with the kind of performance found only in the very expensive mainframe computers of a year ago.

Our high integrated boards, CAD systems afford a superb designed high speed environment with an excellent set of tools for design flow. The real time feedback of information to the factory.

We don't stop there. We designed an optional advanced production system, the Most powerful in its class, and the best in the construction industry for the development of sophisticated software.

Optimized software programs manage and build complex systems. The systems offer with 512 Kbytes of memory, and 2 megabyte hard disk increases speed. Processor load times are accurate in the CAD in offering up to an increasing atmosphere.

If CAD wasn't enough, all the power and performance is contained in a multi user environment. The system has built in a capable of handling a terminal and a work.

All Sage Computer have been supported with quality software solutions. The solutions that come standard with the systems provide a variety of functions. Many are handled by applications for the CAD, and now we are adding software that will be able to use some of them right now. The hardware is just beginning to be released and it will be available in a package with each system to get you going.

Interested? Send our first to a single operating system. Please call 800-544-2424. 800-544-2424. 800-544-2424. We will offer to handle our system and software with increasing development.

Good, but Good Enough?

Advanced Computer has continued to offer the highest quality systems. We look toward the future with a view on the past.

We know from where we came, and we know what offering the highest performance, top quality manufacturing solutions. Our products provide all the CAD analysis, design and manufacturing capabilities.
